

Request for Technical Review

The State of Utah, Division of Water Quality requests technically competent volunteers to provide a review of recently completed research on Farmington Bay, a part the Great Salt Lake. The Division has published a report titled:

Ecological and Beneficial Use Assessment of Farmington Bay Wetlands:
Assessment and Site-Specific Nutrient Criteria
Methods Development
Phase I

This report summarizes completed research on Farmington Bay wetlands and to a lesser extent open water. The Division wishes to have a peer review of the report and to identify consensus conclusions and future research needs. Copies of the report can be downloaded from the internet site CDSEWER.ORG in the Great Salt Lake research section or from the DEQ website:

http://www.deq.utah.gov/Issues/GSL_WQSC/docs/Farmington_Bay_Wetlands_Progress_Report_May_2007.pdf. CD's with the report can be obtained from the Division at the initial review meeting. The initial review meeting will take place at the Cannon Health Building, 288 North 1460 West, Salt Lake City, Utah 84116 in room 114 on June 19, 2007 at 3:00 pm. Should anyone require additional information they may contact Theron Miller at 801-538-6059 or by e-mail at tmiller@utah.gov.
